Project description

The Zeughaus building built in 1919 by Alfred Ramseyer and Fritz Hiller and the elongated storage building built in 1985 were fully renovated for their new owners, the cantonal police and other administrative departments of the Canton of Appenzell Ausserrhoden. The timber construction of the storage rooms was statically reinforced. The head building of the five-storey building was completely gutted and fitted with new reinforced concrete walls and ceilings. The new three-storey annex (top floor in timber construction) was built on the existing cultural heritage area.
